2012 Official Trailer HD for The Walking Dead is really breathtaking especially in a very graphic way. How To Fix Screwdriver Burnout? May 16th, 2018 SouthAfrican Music Artist XO and Meeku were taken to an area notorious for vehicle burnouts. The parking lot they were taken to was empty except for the large vehicle XO was part of the crew of. There they found that the vehicle was covered in a very large amount of oil. XO had an idea of what could have caused the burnout to occur, but it was not something that anyone at the rescue crew had thought of before. XO knew exactly what the problem was with the vehicle, but the mechanics were not sure. Instead of just directing them to the fixed location of the oil leak, they sent XO into the vehicle and it was this that eventually showed them that the problem was actually with the vehicle's screwdriver. XO thought that the problem was with the screwdriver and somehow it had burnt out. Luckily, there was a new screwdriver in the car for XO to use when the fix was completed. XO then went on to try and explain how the burnout actually occurred, and that the problem was with the vehicle's screwdriver and not the oil which was coming from outside the vehicle. The entire explanation was directed more towards the mechanics that were working at the wheel of the vehicle, and not the driver. XO continued on to explain that the water line was blocked by oil coming from the oilpan which was caught under the vehicle when the burnout occurred, and as a result the vehicle stalled. XO was then told that the vehicle would be brought back to the garage and would get ready to be fixed. XO was then told that they would fix the problem in 4 hours time. XO didn't believe them, so he tried to explain that when the car was over $3000 in his opinion there was no way that they could fix it in just 4 hours time. However, his explanation was 09e8f5149f
